Why Squirrel AI Wins Where Traditional Tutoring Can’t

|                   | Traditional Tutoring (e.g., Kumon, Mathnasium) | Squirrel AI                                                                                               |
|-------------------|------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Method            | Paper worksheets, repetition & memorization    | Adaptive AI platform pinpoints the exact concept where learning broke down — even gaps from years earlier |
| Learning plan     | One-size-fits-most curriculum levels           | Customized plan per student, adjusted in real time as the AI tracks progress                              |
| Availability      | Scheduled sessions only                        | 24/7 AI support, with unlimited ways to explain a concept until it clicks                                 |
| Human teaching    | Varies by location and staff                   | Award-winning teachers reinforce the most challenging lessons in clear, simple ways                       |
| Parent visibility | Periodic paper reports                         | 24/7 dashboard with detailed metrics on every gap found and closed                                        |

The Business Model

|                               |                                         |
|-------------------------------|-----------------------------------------|
| Total initial investment      | $110,450 – $137,000                   |
| Revenue model                 | $250–$350/mo subscriptions            |
| Break-even point              | 32–38 active students                   |
| Center footprint              | 1,200 sq. ft.                           |
| Gross margin per seat         | 85–90%                                  |
| At 100 students (per Item 19) | ~$30,000 gross / ~$18,250 NOI per mo. |
| Formats available             | Single-unit & Area Development          |

No inventory. No complex supply chain. No certified-teacher payroll — the platform delivers instruction; your team runs enrollment, community, and operations.
